

Labour Market Information

What is LMI?

Why is it helpful to you and your clients?

What is out there?

What is LMI?

Labour market information tells you:

What jobs and skills employers are looking for.

Which industries are recruiting and where they are located.

Which job areas are growing in the future.

Why is it helpful to you and your clients?

Careers guidance professionals are at the interface between the job market and their clients. In a fast changing world, it is unsurprising that clients particularly value seeing a careers professional because this gives them 'access to expert knowledge and networks' (Bimrose, et al. 2004). So, whilst linking clients to the labour market isn't the only goal of career guidance, it is hard to imagine any credible attempt at careers guidance that is completely divorced from an understanding of Labour Market Information (LMI). Most important is the ability to conjure from this raw and sometimes overwhelming data its more useful partner, Labour Market Intelligence.

What is out there, and how can we encourage our clients to use LMI to help them plan ahead and make informed choices?

Graduate Market Trends The HECSU journal

gmt

Graduate Market Trends (GMT) is HECSU's quarterly journal. It provides high quality information about contemporary debates in higher education, graduate employment and career learning.

Latest edition - Autumn 2016

In this edition we address the most contested themes in this autumn's HE, skills and careers agendas:

- Sector opinion: Enjoy our regular column with Brian Hipkin, student experience expert and author; Charlie Ball, Prospects' Head of Higher Education Intelligence, Charlie Ball, employs his formidable expertise to debunk two common myths about graduate employment and university participation.
- 'A strong voice in the HE debate' - we interview AGCAS new Executive Director, Elaine Boyes.
- The HECSU Research Fund: Charlie Ball shares the fruits of last year's HECSU research funding programme
- HECSU Membership - HECSU's Relationship Manager Ellie Reynolds gives us an insight into the multiple benefits of being a member.
- A recruiter's perception of the graduate labour market - Grovelands Recruitment's Ella Eager presents the findings of her company's latest graduate survey from a recruiter's perspective.
